A Booster's Pledge

On my word and honor, I hereby now declare that as long as I am a resident of this community it will be my constant aim to boost at all times and every time.

I will do what I can for any public work that has the good of the community as its object.

I will submit to and abide by majority rule and will not knock and howl my head off if things are not done my way.

I will take no radical or extreme position on any question before the people, and will have due respect for the opinion of my friends and neighbors when their opinions are opposed to mine.

I will always try to say something good about my town and my people, or I'll keep my bazoo shut and "cut it out" like a man

I realize that if this community is good enough to live in and make my money in, it is the proper place to spend my money in.—Abilene News.

Hammond—Felt.

Characterized by extreme simplicity and beauty the marriage of Miss Florence Elizabeth Hammond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Hammond, and Mr. Floyd Pitt Felt, of Emporia, Fla., was solemnized at 5 o'clock this aternoon at the home of the bride's parents, North Washington Ave., in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom. Rev. Horace Cady Wilson, of First Presbyterian church, officiated, and the bride and groom were unattended. The bride was handsomely gowned in a white lace robe and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. The rooms were simply but artistically decorated with white roses and greenery. Among the relatives at the wedding were: Mr. J. P. Felt, father of the groom and Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Felt, of Emporium, Pa., and Mrs. Carl Felt, of Philadelphia. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served, covers being laid for fourteen. The table was made beautiful with white roses and ferns. Mr. and Mrs. Felt will leave late this evening for an eastern trip and will be at home after November 1, at Emporia, Fla. The groom was a special student at M. A. C., his last year being '07.—The State Republican, Lancing, Mich., Aug. 4, 1909.

An Ideal Time.

On the evening of July 31st a number of young people gathered in the yard at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Howlett, at Sterling Run. The occasion was the anniversary of their marriage. The lawn was lighted with Japanese lanterns until the moon joined company. The evening was spent in an Ideal time and all present enjoyed it heartily. Refreshments were provided by the ladies and were ample and delicious. It has seldom been the writer's privilege to enjoy such a continuous round of pleasure. The guests left for their homeir homes at 11:40 p. m., each one expressing their enjoyment of the evening and hoping that the wedding anniversary will occur often. XXX

Hackett—Steven.

Mr. Karl Hackett, of this place, second son of Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Hackett, of East Third Street, and Miss Margaret Steven, of Wharton, Ills., were united in marriage by Rev. Mr. Purkiss, of the First Baptist Church, of Elgin, Ills., Tuesday evening, Aug. 3rd, 1909. After a sumptuous repast music was furnished by one of the best orchestras in Elgin. Many were the congratulations extended by friends to the happy couple who will go to housekeeping in the city of Dundee, Ills., where Karl has accepted a good position. The PRESS, as well as many of our citizens, extend their best wishes to the happy bride and groom.

The gynasium and athletic field of the Lock Haven Normal School are not excelled by those of any other secondary school in Pennsylvania. Physical education is not neglected in this important school. The academic studies are vigorously taught and the professional work is modern and in accordance with the latest pedagogy. The fall term opens Sept. 5th. Send for a catalog.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

[From our Regular Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7, 1909.

The Payne tariff bill, after twenty weeks of almost continuous debate, is finally on the statute books and the Dingley law has passed into history. Final action on the bill was taken by the Senate on Thursday afternoon, August 5, and within three hours after the passage of the measure by the upper house, the President affixed his signature and the first session of the Sixty-first Congress adjourned sine die. The bill went into effect that night at mid-night. After signing the bill the President made a statement of his views, saying: "I have signed the Payne tariff bill because I believe it to be the result of a sincere effort on the part of the Republican party to make a downward revision and the comply with the promises of the platform as they have been generally understood and as I interpreted them in the campaign before election." President Taft frankly admits that he is not wholly satisfied with the measure, saying: "The bill is not a perfect tariff bill or a complete compliance with the promises made, strictly interpreted, but a fulfilment free from criticism in respect to a subject matter involving many schedules and thousands of articles could not be expected." * ° "There have been a great number of real decreases in rates, and they constitute a sufficient amount to justify the statement that this bill is a substantial downward revision and a reduction of excessive rates."

To the many who put their faith in a tariff commission the President's words on that subject will prove an occasion of gratification for he says that the provision contained in the maximum and minimum section gives him "a wide latitude for acquisition, under circumstances favorable to its truth, of information in respect to the price and cost of production of goods at home and abroad, which will throw much light on the operation of the present tariff and be of primary importance as officially collected date upon which future Executive action and Executive recommendations may be based.

The session of Congress just concluded demonstrated in a remarkable degree the impossibility of enacting a tariff law in accordance with the Republican national platform, that is, making the duties equal the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad plus a reasonable profit for American industries, without date bearing on the various industries other than that furnished by protected manufacturers whose personal profits are dependent on the tariff and whose views cannot be in any sense unbiazed. Such manufacturers appear before the committee of Congress and assert that any reduction of the duties below the existing law will ruin their business and throw thousands out of work. The few who attempt to controver these statements are, naturally, less familiar with the details of a given industry than those engaged in it and they are generally made to appear ridiculous because of that lack of familiarity. The Senator or Representative dependent on the manufacturers in his district in large measure for re-election is hardly in a position to treat their statements with incredulity. It is, therefore, imperative that Congress should have some official data on which to act and that, above all, the President who, as Mr. Taft has well said, has the entire country for his constituency, should possess that data also. Only a tariff commission of the type designed by President Taft can furnish such data.

Some of the leaders in Congress sought to emasculate the tariff provision commission, as is clearly demonstrated by the statement of Senator Hale in debate that under the provision the President would have no power to investigate costs of production at home or abroad. The assurance of so able a lawyer as President Taft that the provision as enacted affords him wide latitude to secure just such information is, therefore, most reassuring to a majority of the people, even though it may greatly contribute to the discomfiture of Mr. Hale.

U. S. Cavalryman.

Dan'l Sullivan, Jr., of Cameron, who is spending his furlough at his home at Cameron was in town yesterday and called at the PRESS office. He has enjoyed his vacation and will leave Aug. 25th to join his command at Scofield Barracks, Hawaiian Islands, being a member of Troup D, 5th U. S. Cavalry. We understand Mr. S. is an expert horseman and no doubt will give some "stunts" at Camp W. H. Howard during the Encampment.

HIGH EXPLOSIVE SAFETY INSTRUCTIONS

The extensive shipments of dynamite from the four large factories—three located at Emporium and one at Sinnamahoning—in this county, has constrained the Penn'a R. R. officials to use every effort to ensure safety in the shipment of high explosives. To that end the company during the past week or more has been conducting schools of instruction at several points on P. & E. division. Last week, Thursday, Mr. W. H. Rumberger, assistant trainmaster of Renovo, held a conference at the Emporium freight office with Mr. Thos. Gallagher, agent at Emporium, who is acknowledged the best authority regarding the shipment of high explosives and is dubbed "King Authority," in fact all hands look to him for advice. The meeting was attended by agent Baird and his assistant of Sinnamahoning, the trackformen of this section, many of the operators, yard conductors and brakemen and foreman of motive power, E. L. Klock and his assistants. The attendance of the men closely connected with this hazardously daugerous freight were carefully and fully instructed in the rules and regulations laid down by the company, that accidents may be entirely avoided and the state lews complied with. Similar "schools of instruction" have been held at all important points between Erie and Renovo. The public can rest assured that the many millions of pounds of dynamite shipped annually from this county will be guarded safely.

Mason Hill Still on the Map.

O. B. Tanner of Mason Hill, was in Emporium last Saturday and found time to visit ye editor and after a time lowered himself into a chair. "Bert" informs us that one of his best horses met with an accident a few days ago by getting one of its feet into the mowing machine knife, cutting its foot seriously. He fears his horse is ruined. The only news he could give us was that potatoes look bad and his apple and other fruit crop is a failure. However, he says the bear crop seems good. One day recently he spied a monster black bear sitting "under the old apple tree," but when he made for his trusty rifle he noticed his bearship was reading a late edition of the bear laws, stamped compliments of Hon. Josiah Howard. Of course the bear walked away to his neighbors garden for something to eat and "Bert" had to kill some chickens for dinner.

Bradford's Big Week.

Bradford's old home week is a howling success, nothing like it ever known in this country. The finest attractions in the country are employed for a solid week. Thousands of visitors are there for the week. We notice among the old Bucktails the following: "Mr. and Mrs. Dennis O'Keefe of Addison, N. Y., are visiting friends in town. The former was one of the Bucktails. In the early days he conducted a hotel in Bradford. He was one of those who rode on the famous Bucktail raft. He has met some of his comrades whom he has not seen in thirty years."

Dance.

There will be a dance at K. G. E., hall, Cameron, Aug. 20, 1909. Everybody cordially invited to attend. Good music has been engaged.

BY ORDER OF COMMITTEE.

DANCING UPHELD.

Rev. Dr. Conwell Also Says Church May Approve Cards.

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 1.—Church approval of dancing was upheld here to-day by Rev. Russell H. Conwell, pastor of Grace Baptist Church, Philadelphia, and also president of Temple College. Card playing was put on the same basis. That the churches are now half dead and will be forced to return to the older style of Methodist camp meeting was another assertion. Incidentially, Dr. Conwell, took a rap at professional higher criticism.

"Dancing under the sanctum of the church and playing cards by church members are proper if the individual church wishes to approve them." said Dr. Conwell, "provided only they do not interfere with the main business of the church. The churches many of them, are about half dead. Give me back the old days when we shouted amen in the old camp meetings. When under excitement people were saved. These times will come again. Some educators think they can take the Bible to pieces as they do any book. They can't. No unbeliever can criticize it, for no one who does not believe in it can understand it. They can't take out a sentence here and a sentence there and pick it to pieces. The Bible must be taken as a great whole into which every sentence fits."

Evidently a Success.

The recent oiling of West Fourth street for two blocks, from Maple to Vine streets, appears to work well, in fact the owners of property abutting are delighted with the change. A movement is now on foot to extend the oiling farther along said street, at least over that portion constructed by the state. The state assumes a portion of the expense. This will answer until such a time the taxpayers are ready to pave the street.

Cemetery Enlarged.

We were recently shown a survey of Wiley addition to Newton Cemetery made by Geo. P. Jones, one of the best draughtsmen in the country. The new addition will give about 350 extra lots for sale. What should be done to guard against the future neglect is to sell to an Association sufficient land that will suffice for a long term of years, thereby laying aside a fund to beautify the "city of the dead." This question has too long been neglected and, it seems to us, that the present plot should be many times larger.

Creighton's Billiard Parlor.

James P. Creighton's new billiard parlors on Broad street, recently completely remodeled and refurnished are the best appointed in this section of the state. The painting and decorating was executed by Geo. Hurteau and certainly reflects credit. Mr. Creighton who is a popular and energetic citizen, may well be proud of his new appointments. That new $110.00 gold watch will now attract the boys, but Andrew Brady says he has that solid sure.

Coming Home.

Mr. W. H. Howard and son, W. H. Jr., are booked to sail from Liverpool on the Mauritania, the fastest passenger steamer afloat and which has recently beaten her own high record, on August 14th. The two Howards, father and son, have been in Europe several weeks, visiting all the principal cities in England, Germany and France and our readers can look for wonderful reports when the two "Bills" came home.

Boys' Brigade Encampment.

The Boys' Brigade Companies, comprising companies from Ridgway, St. Marys and Emporium, numbering about two hundred members, in charge of Maj. Th. Bliss, Commander of Fifth Division assembled at Emporium, Wednesday noon, preparatory to marching to Encampment at Sizerville. Upon arrival noon Flyer bringing the Ridgway and St. Marys companies, the several commands marched to Emmanuel Parish House when they broke ranks for dinner. Promptly at 3:00 o'clock the command, headed by Trumperter Metzger, of Company M, Maj. Bliss, Division Chaplain Radcliffe and Lieut.-Chaplain Robertson and Brigade Drum Corps, started on the six mile tramp for Sizerville, arriving there about five o'clock, tired, dust covered and hungry. After a rest the boys got busy putting their tents in order for the night.

The mess tents are in charge of Geo. Trainor and F. B. Housler, two experienced cooks, who with plenty of provision will see that the boys have plenty to eat.

Strict military rules govern the camp, wholsome and substantial food only allowed the boys.

Camp W. H. Howard is admirably situated on the flat on Cauley Run, near Robt. McDowell's farm, an ideal spot for an Encampment. With plenty of good spring water, excellent bathing and nice pure air the boys cannot fail to have an enjoyable week.

Next Sabbath the Ridgway Cornet Band will be present and give a sacred concert. No doubt large numbers of people from Emporium and adjoining town will daily visit the camp. The boys are in good hands and their parents need not have fear but that they will be carefully cared for.

Ample accommodations for visitors can be secured at Sizer Springs Hotel. Those desiring to spend the day at Sizerville can go up at 8:00 in the morning; 1:40 at noon and return at 8:00 during the evening. Efforts are being made to have a special leave here next Sunday at one o'clock, to return in time to connect with the evening train for western points on P. & E. R. R.

Returned From S. C.

Mrs. E. M. Hurteau, who has been spending several months at Marion, S. C., guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Wheeler, returned to Emporium last Saturday, accompanied by her daughter (Mrs. Wheeler) and Mrs. W. G. Gilbert, of this place, and Miss Gilbert, of Buffalo, who were also enjoying the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler. Those who visit Mr. W's southern home speak in glowing terms of the country and the enjoyable visit. Mrs. Wheeler will remain here until Sept. 1st.

Big Mill to be Erected.

It is reported that the Goodyear Lumber Company are planning to erect a large band saw mill at Liberty, on the line of Buffalo division, to manufacture the timber on Potato Creek, said to require eight years to cut. Our informant tells us that the mill will be larger than the Austin mill and will employ more men. Liberty was years ago a lively town, when Frank Goodyear first commenced lumbering in Pennsylvania.

Post Office Department Wants Quarters.

We notice the Post Office Department has posted a notice in the local office at this place that they will receive proposals for rental of rooms suitable for post office at this place to be supplied with every convenience and fitted up as per schedule; room to be about 22x60, to be rented for five or ten years. Bids to be received until Aug. 28.

Sorely Afflicted.

Chas. E. Crandell and family have certainly been deeply afflicted during the past few months—death having invaded their family three times. Mr. Cradell was with his father one week before his death and is now taking a little rest before resuming his work.

Leaves to Complete Arrangements.

Prof. B. Th. Bliss, who has charge of the Boys Brigade, left yesterday afternoon for Emporium from where he will go on to Sizerville to see that everything is in shape for the boys when they arrive.—Tuesday's Ridgway Daily Democrat.

Will Take a Long Bath.

Councilman Chas. W. Rishell left last evening for Lock Haven to join his brother and hie away to Atlantic City for a great swim in the mighty pond. If we hear of a tidal wave we shall know why.

Purchased a Home.

Geo. A. Wright, the contractor, has purchased from J. S. Wiley Estate the residence one door west of Jos. Newton's, West Allegany Avenue.

Maccabee Home.

District Attorney P. P. McNarney left on Monday for Pittsburg to attend a meeting of the State Maccabee Home Committee, formulating plans for the erection of a Maccabee Home.

Ice Cream Social.

There will be an ice cream social, for the benefit of the church, in the Mineral Springs Grove, at Sizerville, Friday afternoon and evening, Aug. 13. Everybody invited.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

CRANDELL.

Mr. D. E. Crandell, father of Bank Teller Chas. E. Crandell, of this place, died at Williamsport, Friday evening, last, aged 70 years. The Williamsport Bulletin says of the death and funeral:

"Mr. Crandell was born near Elmira, N. Y., and was seventy-one years of age on June 15. He came here in 1872, and for some years conducted a grocery business, erecting the block at Fourth and Campbell streets, which he later sold to Harry Rakestraw.

He is survived by a widow and the following children: C. E. Crandell, of Emporium; L. B. Crandell of this city, and E. P. Derr of Spokane, Wash.

The funeral of the late D. E. Crandell was held on Monday afternoon from his late residence 761 Grace street. The services were in charge of the Rev. Oliver C. Horseman, pastor of the first Baptist church. The pallbearers were: Warren Fisher, George Steiger, William Linck and Logan Jackson. Interment was made in Wildwood.

Among the the out-of-town relatives and friends present at the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Crandell, a son, of Emporium; Mrs. N. J. Crandell, of Montour Falls. Mrs. Brace, of North Tonawanda, Pa."

The deceased visited Emporium many times during the past few years and met many of our citizens. He was a pleasant, genial gentleman and while his death was not unexpected his demise is deeply deplored. He belonged to that old-school class of merchants who quietly watched Williamsport grow from the seed planted by himself and others long ago. The bereaved family, especially the devoted wife, are indeed entitled to our sympathy.

CHANDLER.

Amer Chandler, aged 70, who left Emporium about three or four years ago for Detroit Mich., died in a hospital in that city on July 1st, after long suffering from a cancer in the face. We have no particulars other than above, which are given us by his sister, Mrs. E. P. White, of this place. Mr. Chandler was owner of the mineral right on land now owned by Penn Vitrified Brick Co., at Calder, near Emporium, and promoted the Calder Brick Company.

First Opening Night.

The Emporium Drug Company held their first evening's opening on Saturday and many of our citizens called to inspect their new and handsome surroundings. With their new and attractive line of staple and pure drugs and toilet articles, cigars, etc., they cannot fail but hold the large trade enjoyed by the old stand. Mr. F. J. Keim, Jr., one of the proprietors, who is a graduate of Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, will be resident manager. We be. speak for the new firm a cordial reception by our people. E. W. Yeagle the senior member of the firm, will remain at St. Marys, where they own a large drug business.

FIGHTING FOREST FIRES.

Fighting Forest Fires.

Sometimes they do things very well in Michigan. As everyone is aware, Michigan, like New Hampshire, is very solicitous for her forests. Again, like New Hampshire, Michigan is disturbed from time to time by forest fires, and every loyal Michigander is expected to prove his willingness, whenever occasion may demand, to join his neighbors in fighting those fires, says the Manchester Union. In fact, a Michigan statute specifically provides punishment for refusal to assist in suppressing a forest fire. Never, however, until recently, has it been found necessary to invoke this statute, and then a man was sentenced to 90 days in the Detroit house of correction. It is, of course, conceivable that a rigid enforcement of such a law as that might work severe hardship in some individual cases. For example, it would be obviously unjust and inhuman to impress into fire-fighting service one whose physical condition plainly incapacitates him from that service, or one who is occupied with the care of the sick. On the other hand, it is always to be expected that careful judgment will be exercised in the enforcement of this law, as of any other.

One effect of the warm weather has been to promote the fruit and berry industry. The weather recently has provided great growing and ripening conditions, and the effect is plainly visible. The Delaware-Maryland peninsula, which is the seat of an immense strawberry-raising industry, reports a record-breaking crop. The shipments have aggregated 16,676,000 quarts, with 2,600,000 quarts more than for the same time last year, and this notwithstanding heavy rains that tended to offset in part the favorable influence. The supply of material for strawberry shortcake and strawberry jam, to say nothing of just strawberries and cream, is abundant and should add largely to human happiness. The strawberry season is very brief, but this year the fleeting joy of it should be exceptionally intense.

Intimations that the disclosures in the "Black Hand" conspiracy in Ohio may lead to the exposure of a far-reaching plot and that the trail if followed may end in the discovery and punishment of men connected with the assassination of Lieut. Petrosino, the New York police officer who was murdered in Sicily, are not surprising. There seems to be no doubt that a criminal organization exists, and when that fact is established and the proper threads are found the whole mystery may be unraveled. And when this is accomplished there is likely to be a blow dealt at "Black Handism" that will teach a greatly needed lesson.

There is a little comfort for friends of American shipping in the news that a company running steamships to Hawaii has contracted with an eastern concern for three new vessels of large dimensions. These ships will be of American construction, operated by Americans under the American flag, and for this much the American people may be proportionately thankful. May the new craft be such inspiring object lessons that more of the same sort will follow speedily.

France appears to have caught the warship fever. The cabinet has approved a program which involves the expenditure of $600,000,000 in ten years for naval construction and the building of twelve big battleships. That country is thrifty and has money in abundance, if not "to burn." But is not that a costly proceeding even for a nation so well fixed?

The difficulty of intelligible conversation with Mars is suggested by a scientific theory that the canals of that planet may be signals to us. Here is the possibility that while we think of talking to Mars by electric flashes of mirrors Mars may be speaking to us by canals. Two different languages, you see.

WITH THE PEOPLE

PRESIDENT TAFT'S POSITION IS NOW WELL UNDERSTOOD.

Chief Executive Properly Puts the Interest of the Many Before That of the Few--Insists on Proper Tariff Revision.

President Taft is not disposed to have his ante-election assurance of a downward trend of rates in the recasting of the tariff nullified, and to this end he is bending his endeavors. He believes that the things that touch the lives of the people, that enter into the common necessities of existence, should be lightened of their burdens. He entered into the plan to have a corporation tax amendment adopted, so as to secure revenue easement in order that there might be no excuse for the retention of excessive rates after the conditions calling for the duties had changed. He stands squarely for the people, and has the acumen to see that this stand can never fundamentally affect the real interests of any industry. The apparent interests of some may be affected, but in every case the good of the many goes before that of the few, the good of the country before the good of any group of manufacturers.

Mr. Taft is determined that the conference committee shall not play fast and loose with the schedules, using the corporation tax as a ruse. He would have been glad to have had enacted an inheritance tax; but, lacking this, he conceded virtue to a corporation tax. Certainly the virtue of cutting the ground from under the feet of those who sought subterfuge for the loading of industry with taxation in response to the cries of those who seek to have sky-scraping rates for hides, lumber, oil and the like. Now he is ill-disposed toward any connivance looking to the setting aside of the corporation tax and the upholding of the senate's excessive schedules on such prime articles of consumption. That he has protested against such a course is likely enough, although his honest and unflinching attitude should carry conviction without the necessity for him to enter specific protest against the violation of good faith with him and the country.

Mr. Taft has reiterated his position with sufficient frequency to be understood. The fact that he has not pursued back-breaking tactics, has not attempted to cudgel his opponents into the light, does not detract in any way from the calm and determined purpose to have the tariff bill reflect his views as he has imbibed them from that great element of the American public that in these days is coming into its own—the consumer.

President Has Made Wise Choice.

President Taft has been searching for the right man to serve the United States as minister at the Peking court. He has experienced considerable difficulty, judging form several indications and reported declinations, but his efforts have at last been rewarded with conspicuous success.

In Mr. Charles R. Crane of Chicago, who has been selected for the post and has accepted the appoinment, the right man has been found for the right place.

Mr. Crane is a man of affairs as well as of broad culture, exceptional interest and experience in international concerns, great public spirit and unique social gifts. Has has traveled much, observed, studied events, personalities, tendencies; he has cultivated acquaintances in almost every stratum of society in every country to which business or recration has ever taken him, and there are few American embassies or important consular offices which he has not visited. A man of advanced views in politics and civics, an enemy of graft, greed, corruption and all forms of special privilege, a practical and generous worker for good government and social amelioration, Mr. Crane is particularly well qualified for the duties and responsibilities of the Chinese mission, for during the next few years the paramount question between China and the great powers will be the intelligent and honest enforcement of the principles of the open door and respect for the integrity and independence of the empire.

The issue between President Taft and the tariff conferees of the two houses of congress is growing narrower and more clearly defined. Responding to the pressure which the president has already brought to bear for a revision of the tariff downward, the conference committee of senate and house is already showing a disposition materially to reduce the duty on hides, coal and lumber and to admit iron ore and petroleum entirely free of duty.

Mr. Bryan, and Governors Harmon, Jonnson and Marshall attack Senators Bailey, Bacon, Daniel and other Democrats who have been breaking away from their old creed on the traiff. Perhaps the solid south will be broken in 1912, after all.

No Compromise Possible.

It is well to have the rumor denied that the indicted sugar trust officers had made a proposal to the government to plead guilty provided they were promised immunity from prison sentences. Such conditions would be inconceivable. For the government to accept them or even to permit their discussion would utterly destroy popular faith in the purpose of the administration and the courts to enforce justice without discrimination between the rich and the poor, the powerful and the weak.

WANT TO SEE THE PRESIDENT

People Welcome His Visits and Are Always Willing to Pay Expenses of Tours.

The Democrats in the house of representatives have misrepresented their constituents. They did it by talking and voting against an appropriation of $25,000 to defray the traveling expenses of the president. Through mental perversity they fancied they were scoring a point in the game of politics, a game they do not play well.

If they were to talk with the voters of their respective districts, both Democrats and Republicans, they would speedily find out two things. One is that the people, comparatively few of whom can go to the president, wish him to come to them. Nothing interests and excites an American community, north, south, east or west, more than an announcement that the president is to pay it a visit. Towns which are on his line of travel at once begin asking him to stop so that they may see and perhaps hear him. If the contemplated two months' trip of the president through the west were to be given up, the people of that region would suffer acute disappointment.

Another thing which the Democratic congressmen would find out would be that the people, without distinction of party, do not wish to make the president pay his traveling expenses, even if his salary is now $75,000 a year. They do not wish the places he visits to pay them. They wish the nation to do it. It is not for his own amusement that he travels. It was not for recreation that he went to the international celebration to commemorate Champlain. His western tour and possible meeting with the president of Mexico will not be made to serve party ends, but to aid him in the discharge of his presidential duties.

The Democrats in the house have at last found something they can agree on. It is so mean and picayunish a proposition that it will not endear them to the members of their own party.

President Taft and the Trusts.

A few days ago a federal grand jury returned indictments, not simply against the sugar trust, but also against the officers of that great corporation. This, as the newspapers have pointed out, is a new method of procedure. Hitherto the practice has been to proceed against the corporation—as in the Northern Securities case, the Santa Fe rebating case and the Standard Oil case—the idea seeming to be that all that was necessary was either to enjoin or fine the corporation. President Taft, on the other hand, apparently believes that crimes are committed by men and thinks that when a corporation violates the law it does it through its officers. Instead of trying to have a trust subjected to a fine which it would, if it paid it at all, pass on to the consumers of its product, he is of the opinion that the best way to stop rascality is to punish the rascals. So far, at least, he has not demanded that any individual be exempted from prosecution. He has not complained of the unwillingness of grand juries to indict, or of petit juries to convict. Rather he seems to feel that if a crime has been committed and is proved the American people, as represented by juries, can be trusted to uphold the law.

Will Meet the President's Views.

It is now generally appreciated that the president has acted with a wisely discriminating tactfulness in reserving his say on tariff questions to the final stage of readjustment of the schedules. His predecessor undoubtedly would have poured in hot stuff upon the extra session from start to finish, but while the special messages would have contributed to the gayety of the debates, it is more than doubtful if in the final stage of the readjustment any concessions would have been made in response to such methods. President Taft has once again given a demonstration that behind that sunny smile with which he is accustomed to tackle difficult problems there is a tremendous power of insistent and persistent earnestness. The tariff is going to be reshaped by the joint conference to meet the president's views, and when the redrafted measure is submitted to vote, it will pass in both the house and the senate—the president will "get the votes."

The President's Position.

President Taft's statement of his position with reference to free raw materials and downward tariff revision will, we think, be enthusiastically approved by the Republican party and by the country. It is sane, logical and broad-minded, embodying conclusions reached by the great body of the people, who want to see the tariff revised for the benefit of the nation as a whole, not for the promotion of the selfish interests of certain sections or certain classes of producers.

It seems that the president understood the Republican platform to mean downward revision, and it is recalled that he was giving pretty close attention to such things at that time.

Tariff by Commission.

The statement comes from Washington that this is the last tariff measure which congress will ever try to construct. This summer's experience has been sufficient to weary the members, just as congress has wearied the country. As a result of the present feeling it is predicted that hereafter tariff measures will be constructed by expert commissions. Congress will so decide in self-defense. The commission will do the work. Congress then can undo as much of it as it sees fit. But even so, the net result will doubtless be to the gain of the country.

TOWN CELEBRATES FIRST SETTLEMENT

PRODUCTION BY A CAST OF 2,000 PLAYERS OF "THE CANTERBURY PILGRIMS."

AN ELABORATE SPECTACLE

Pageant Given Near the Site of the House of Roger Conant, First Governor of the Little Gloucester Colony.

Gloucester, Mass. — A spectacle unique in the annals of New England and probably the most elaborate of its kind ever seen in this country, brought to a close the celebration of the first settlement of Gloucester, 286 years ago. Seated in a natural ampitheater overlooking the harbor, 5,000 persons witnessed the production by a cast of 2,000 players of "The Canterbury Pilgrims," a pageant.

"Gloucester day" celebration is an annual fixture in the local calendar, but this year an unusually elaborate program was arranged, as it was thought that the occasion would be marked by the presence of President Taft. The inability of the president to come on account of the pressure of tariff affairs in Washington, caused much regret, and some slight changes in the program were necessary at the last moment, but the arrangements as a whole were carried out as originally planned.

The pageant was given near the site of the house of Roger Conant, first governor of the little Gloucester colony. Percy Mackaye, the author of "The Canterbury Pilgrims," was assisted in the production by Eric Pape, one of the summer colony of artists here, and Walter Damrosch, director of the New York Symphony Orchestra. The open air stage was 175 feet long and 680 feet in depth. There was no curtain, but a display of colored fire screened the stage between the acts.

The music was by a band of 65 pieces and a large pipe organ built for the purpose. At certain periods in the performance the bells of the city chruches, connected electrically with the organ, sounded their chimes, while a salvo of artillery from the warships in the harbor was a feature of one part of the play.

OLD MEN MUST STEP ASIDE

Younger Blood Will be Enthused in the United States Weather Bureau Stations.

Washington, D. C.—Old men, make way for younger blood. This, in effect, is the "intimation" which has been sent along the line of the United States weather bureau field service by Chief Willis L. Moore. It means in plain English that the day of men over three score years of age occupying high positions in that service is passed. Young men of vigor and snap are being pushed to the front to fill the places once occupied by gray-haired veterans of the service. Men who have reached the age above indicated will not be let out of the service, but will take less important stations.

Striking illustrations of the fact that this is to become the settled policy of the weather bureau is indicated by changes which have just been made in the stations at Philadelphia, Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Nashville, all of which posts have been filled by men whose ages are between 60 and 70 years, but which from now on are to be occupied by men considerably younger.

ANCIENT CUSTOM IS REVIVED

Murderer Publicly Beheaded in the Boulevard Fronting a Prison in Paris.

Paris, France.—A sudden official announcement that a public beheading would take place in the boulevard fronting the Sante prison, created a sensation in Paris, which had not seen an execution in 15 years. Immediately immense crowds gathered at the scene. Parisian sentiment long has been opposed to public executions, for in the past they were accompanied by scandalous scenes of revelry.

Despite this sentiment parliament refused to abolish the death penalty in France, and in view of the revolting crime of the man executed, President Fallieres refused to commute his sentence to life imprisonment. The victim was one Duchemin, aged 23, a butcher. In 1908 he stabbed his mother and this not resulting in her death quick enough he finished her by strangulation. The motive for the crime was robbery. The victim was seized and thrown under the knife. In a flash all was over and the crowds dispersed without disorder.

"Blue Laws" Repealed.

Hartford, Conn.—Both branches of the Connecticut state legislature have passed a bill repealing the so-called "blue laws" relating to Sunday observance, which forbid almost every form of recreation and secular activity.

Auto Kills Little Girl.

Altoona, Pa.—Mabel Waite, eight years, was struck and killed by an automobile. The little girl became bewildered when the car bore down upon her and ran in front of it.

Keystone State Jots

New York City. — Orders for steel rails are improving. The demand is more uniform than it has been in several months. The B. & O. is in the market for 20,000 tons and the Harriman lines also have an inquiry in the market for a considerable tonnage.

New York City.—The yachting colony at Larchmont is of the opinion that it is being victimized by a Raffles disguised as a yachtsman. Following the mysterious appearance in the select colony of a stranger wearing full yachting regalia, several burglaries have been committed.

New York City.—Quan Yick Nam, the Chinese interpreter who gave his services to the police in their efforts to solve the murder of Elsie Sigel, has informed the district attorney's office that his life has been threatened by certain of his countrymen if he does not withdraw from the case.

Albany.—Notice was filed in the executive chamber of the appointment of Dr. Frank A. Kendall of Saranac Lake as treasurer of the New York State Hospital for Treatment of Incipient Pulmonary Tuberculosis at Raybrook, in the Adirondacks. He is to succeed William E. Minshull.

Albany.—The largest cheese ever manufactured in the Mohawk valley was shipped from here recently. The cheese was built in the usual shape, but, it measured 32 inches high and 45 inches in diameter and weighed 1,950 pounds. It took about ten tons of milk to produce it, and it was pressed into shape by a specially constructed press.

Albany. — Attorney General O'Malley announces that Charles G. Baldwin of Syracuse, who was appointed a deputy in June, has resigned because of pressure of private business and James S. Kiley of Glens Falls has been promoted to fill the vacancy at an annual salary of $4,000. Deputy E. E. Risley of Utica has been promoted to the place made vacant by Mr. Kiley's promotion, annual salary $3,000.

Woodbury. — E. H. Harriman has purchased three miles of a public roadway from this town and now it will be impossible for a stranger to approach closer than five miles to Mr. Harriman's magnificent new country mansion. Mr. Harriman deeded to the town in exchange a private road five miles long which he had built at his own expense and which covers a contiguous territory but in a roundabout manner. He is also said to have paid a big cash price. The Harriman family desires seclusion from strangers. The family is expected home early in September.

New York City.—Dr. John Walter Wood, health registrar for Richmond, is abed at his home minus his lower front teeth, with cuts all over his face and a broken wrist. Half an hour after he answered a hurry call to the residence of Frank Cameron, persons near the Cameron house saw the front door open and through it Dr. Wood described a parabola over the stoop and to the sidewalk. Cameron and his brother-in-law were raining blows on Wood. Neither assailant would make a statement at the police station or in court. There is said to be a woman in the case.

Albany. — Supreme Court Justice Fitts announced a decision of importance to trust companies and other corporations required to maintain deposits with the state banking department. He denied the motion of the Central Trust Company of New York for a writ of mandamus against Superintendent Williams of the state banking department to compel him to accept a certain mortgage. The trust company offered a mortgage for $25,000 to Superintendent Williams as part of the security required to be deposited by trust companies receiving deposits of money in trust. The banking law provides that such companies must keep on deposit with the superintendent of banks security at all times equal to 10 per cent of their capital stock, and if doing business in New York City, not less than $100,000 in value. The mortgage presented in this case was made originally to the Lawyers Title Insurance & Trust Co. of New York and assigned by that company to the Central Trust Co.. The attorney general, through Deputy Letchworth, contended that under section 15 of the banking law only mortgages made directly to the trust company offering them could be accepted by the superintendent of banks, and that this mortgage, not being made originally to the Central Trust Co., did not fulfill these requirements. Justice Fitts sustained this contention.

New York City.—E. H. Harriman's health is greatly improved, his condition being better than for several years. It was learned that Mr. Harriman will reach here from his trip abroad about September 10.

Albany. — Commissioner Porter has authorized the establishment of a tuberculosis camp at East Bloomfield, Ontario county. The request was made by the board of supervisors and was the first application made under the new law authorizing counties to establish such institutions.

She—Yes, they are engaged. I know she refused him twice, but the third time he proposed she accepted him.

Her Husband—Served him right.

A City Clerk's Garden.

A city clerk never misses a chance of expatiating on his garden to his colleagues, who, however, were never taken home to see it, but were under the impression it was of enormous size. Five of them resolved to have a look at it, discovered his address, and called one Saturday afternoon to see the hundreds of roses all a-growing and a-blooming. On being taken to the rear of the house, judge of their surprise on seeing a back yard about 12 feet by ten feet. One bold spirit ventured that it was not very big.

"Big!" replied the proud owner, pointing to the sky. "Why, man, alive, look at the height of it!"—Chicago Daily Socialist.

And the Old Man Grinned.

"Duke," said the heiress, eagerly, "did you see father?"

"Yes."

"Well?"

"We talked about the weather."

"What? Lose your nerve again? Why don't you brace up and talk like a man?—a subject of a king on whose domain the sun never sets!"

"Can't," moaned the duke. "All the time I was in your father's office he kept grinning at a big painting."

"What painting?"

"The battle of Bunker Hill."

"To Orient."

Primarily and as its etymology shows the verb to orient means to set an object in exact adjustment to the east, thence by a natural corollary to set it true with all the cardinal points of the compass. Then in the derivative and topical signification it is used to describe the attitude of a mind duly adjusted to any standard of knowledge, morals or life.

Will Greet President of Mexico on International Bridge Over Rio Grande at El Paso—Sail Down Mississippi.

Washington, D. C.—Before his departure here the president made public a tentative outline of his trip through the west and south this fall.

Starting from the rugged shores of the north coast of Massachusetts, the president goes direct west from Beverly. He will motor into Boston the morning of September 15—his fifty-second birthday—and there board the car which practically will be a roving White House for two months.

The president's first stop will be at Chicago, where he arrives shortly before noon on the morning of September 16 and spends the afternoon and evening, leaving at 3 a. m., September 17, for Madison, Wis., where he will spend the entire forenoon of that day, leaving Madison at midday for Winona, Minn., with a brief stop at Portage, Wis., en route. After spending Friday night at Winona, the president will reach Minneapolis early the morning of September 18. The president will spend all of Saturday and Sunday in Minneapolis, leaving Sunday night at 8 p. m. in order to reach Des Moines, Ia., the morning of September 20.

Denver, Col., will be reached the afternoon of September 21 and the president will go almost direct from his train to the state capitol for a reception to be tendered by state officials by the chamber of commerce, civic organizations, etc. At 9 p. m. the president will make an address in the Denver auditorium where Mr. Bryan last year was nominated for the presidency. The president and his party will breakfast with Thomas F. Walsh at Wolhurst, near Denver, the morning of September 22, and then return to the city for the chamber of commerce banquet at noon.

The morning of September 23 will find the president at Glenwood Springs for a brief visit and that afternoon he will visit Montrose to have a look at the great Gunnison tunnel of the western Colorado irrigation project. Returning to Grand Junction to resume the journey westward, the president will arrive at Salt Lake City, Utah, Friday afternoon, the 24th, when the party leaves over the Oregon Short line for Pocatello, Ida., and Butte, Mont., the latter city being reached September 27 at 6:40 a. m. After spending half a day in Butte, there will be a brief excursion into Helena. Spokane, Wash., will be reached early Thursday morning, the 28th, and the entire day will be spent in the city. The forenoon of the 29th will be spent at North Yakina and the party will arrive at Seattle at 8:15 that evening.

President Taft will spend two days, September 30 and October 1, "doing" the Alaska-Yukon exposition, leaving Seattle late in the evening of the second day and arriving at Portland, Ore., October 2 at 7 a. m. Two days will be spent in Portland, the party leaving there at 6 p. m. October 3 for a trip down the famous Shasta route, through the Siskiyou mountains and in view of Mount Shasta, to San Francisco. The president will stop the evening of October 4 at Sacremento, reaching Oakland, Cal., early on the morning of October 5. He will spend four or five hours in and around Oakland and Berkeley before taking the ferry at 12:30 o'clock for San Francisco.

The president will leave early the morning of the 6th for the Yosemite Valley. He will spend the 7th, 8th and 9th in the valley and, coming out the morning of Sunday, October 10, will proceed to Los Angeles, stopping for three hours at Fresno, Sunday afternoon. The president will spend October 11 and 12 in Los Angeles, visiting his sister. He will arrive at the Grand Canyon the morning of October 14 and will leave again that night for Albuquerque, N. M., where he will spend the evening of the 15th, reaching El Paso early the following morning for the meeting with President Diaz of Mexico.

The president reaches San Antonio Sunday night, October 17, and will spend the forenoon of the following day in an inspection of Fort Sam Houston, with the upbuilding of which he had much to do while secretary of war. Arriving at Corpus Christi the evening of October 18 the president goes to his brother's ranch.

Visiting Houston the forenoon of Saturday, October 23, the president proceeds to Dallas that afternoon to spend Saturday evening and all of Sunday. From Dallas the president proceeds direct to St. Louis to begin his four-days trip down that historic waterway.

The first long stop on the river will be at Cairo, Ill., at 8:30 a. m., October 26. The second stop will be at Hickman, Ky. at 2:50 p. m., the president making brief addresses at both places. Arriving off Memphis, Tenn. at 8 a. m. October 27, the president will make an address at 9 a. m. and that afternoon at 5 o'clock will speak at Helena, Ark. On October 28 at 2:30 p. m. the president will make a speech at Vicksburg. New Orleans will be reached about 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. Cars Collide; Five Injured.

Pittsburg, Pa.—Five persons were injured, one fatally, when three cars on the Pittsburg railway's Elliot & Sheraden branch collided near Elliot borough.

FOUR PEOPLE DROWNED

GASOLINE LAUNCH HITS PILING AND IS WRECKED.

Occupants Were Thrown Into the Water—Rescue Parties Succeed in Saving 16 Persons.

Baltimore, Md.—Two drowned bodies are lying at the Canton police station and two others at the bottom of the Patapsco river, while 16 persons who were their companions are alive and thankful that they were not also drowned when a gasoline launch in which they all were was wrecked. The drowned were: Mrs. Katherine E. Brown, 60; Marie Hawes, five; Willard Leach, 12; Frank Pryor, 19.

Pryor was acting as engineer of the launch. The others were attending the annual picnic of the Huntington Avenue Baptist church Sunday school, which was being held at a shore resort a few miles east of this city on the Patapsco. Twenty persons had entered the launch for a short trip on the river. The craft had reached a point about 100 yards from shore when it struck some piling, the top of which was under water. The launch was badly damaged and its occupants were thrown into the water, which at that point is only about four feet deep. Rescue parties at once put out from shore and saved 16 of those who had been in the launch and at once began dragging for the bodies of the others. Those of Mrs. Brown and the little girl were brought ashore.

ROBBER AND CHIEF KILLED

Man Holds Up Bank Cashier and Runs Away with Money—Citizens Pursue Thief and Pitched Battle Ensues.

White Bear, Minn.—In a desperate pitched battle with rifles and revolvers following a bold robbery of the First State bank of White Bear, Robert Pohl, said to have been an ex-convict, and Edward Larkin, chief at the Five Forks, a Bald Eagle lake cottage, were killed and several others wounded, William Butler, a White Bear fisherman, perhaps fatally.

Pohl, who had been working at White Bear for about a week, and who is believed to have been a professional cracksman, took a check for $7 to the bank in the morning, and while the cashier, Alfred Auger, was examining it, he produced an automatic rifle and demanded all the cash in the bank. Auger complied. As the robber dashed out of the bank with $565 in cash, Auger raised the alarm, and citizens prusued the man to the Interstate lumber yards, where he hid. Larkin entered the yards and was shot through the heart. The robber then ran to a pile of lumber a short distance beyond the yard, and hid under it.

A desperate battle with the self-constituted posse during which at least 500 shots were exchanged, followed. John Brachvogel, one of the posse, finally winged the robber in the arm. The man dropped his weapon, but picked it up again, and as he turned to fire, Brachvogel shot him dead.

MUCH PROPERTY DESTROYED

Pittsburg Is Visited by a Severe Electrical and Wind Storm—Conservatories Demolished.

Pittsburg, Pa.—The Saints Peter and Paul German Catholic church struck by lightning and damaged to the extent of $55,000 by a subsequent fire, several of the finest conservatories in the city almost completely demolished by hail, lawns destroyed, streets covered with water and mud to a depth of several feet, delayed street car traffic, electric light service suspended for several hours and many bridges over streams washed away. These are the result of one of the worst electrical and wind storms that has visited this city in recent years.

The storm struck the East End district of this city early in the morning, lasting about an hour and was accompanied by terrific lightning. The storm resembled a cloudburst, so heavy was the fall of water. Large hailstones at times covered the ground. The storm traveled in a southeasterly direction, the downtown section of this city receiving only a shower, the path of the wind and rain being through the residential sections.

NEW DIES WILL BE PREPARED

Secretary of the Treasury Has Ordered the Minting of the New Lincoln Pennies Stopped.

Washington, D. C.—Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh announces that he has decided to have the minting of the new Lincoln pennies stopped for the present and that new dies will be prepared as soon as possible, eliminating the initials of the designer, which now appear so prominently, and substituting the single initial B in an obscure part of the design as recognition of Mr. Brenner's work.

Thirty-Five People Injured.

Chicago, Ill.—An electric car filled with laborers and with women and children who had spent the day in the country was struck by a Pennsylvania train here and 35 persons were injured, five perhaps fatally.

Strike in Honolulu Over.

Honolulu, S. I.—The strike of more than 6,000 plantation Japanese laborers which has been in progress for two months and has caused much loss to the planters, has been declared off by the Japanese of the islands.

The KITCHEN CABINET

THE CHILDREN'S BREAD-LINE.

"GOD help the poor!" but why should we Leave all to God?
We are his agents; daily tread the path
His feet have trod.

Read what He says in Gospel clear—
"Go, feed my sheep!"
"The children's bread-line" is it thus
His Law we keep?

"The bread-line of the children!" This is one of the pictures to be seen any day in Chicago; a row of hungry, ill-clad children of all ages, sexes and colors, with baskets on their arms, standing in line at the door of one of the large, wholesale bakeries. When the door opens, they file in with a pitiful order—pitiful because it shows automatic obedience and sullen fear. They receive the stale bread and left-over cake and cookies and file out again—where? The imagination follows them—where?

Now to some onlookers this picture speaks volumes for the charity and kindness in the world; how much better than wasting that bread; how thoughtful to provide those starved children with such a good meal a day. At least one meal of wholesome (stale) bread a day!

But the cynic might laugh; the thoughtful will grieve; the pessimist might see in this the worst arraignment of our social order; a pictorial presentment of economic blundering displayed by our most effective actors, the children.

Indian Kedgerie.

This recipe was obtained in India by Mrs. Clinton Locks and she found it popular with her friends the world over.

Take equal parts of halibut and rice, with red pepper to taste (the taste, of course, depending on the country). Add cream sauce. The fish and the rice are separately cooked and stirred with the sauce into the pepper.

A Cool Beginning.

A nice beginning for a dinner is a mixture of fruit (any kind), well chilled and drained, and served in small glasses or compotes with a dash of sherry and pulverized ice. A pleasing combination is made of berries, pineapple and oranges. Grape-fruit may be added, and grapes, too. But the grapes should be seeded, and the trouble is scarcely worth while.

DOLLY'S FRECKLES.

THEY say how pretty Doll would be
If only she weren't freckled;
But do we think the less of Heaven
When with light clouds 'tis speckled?

And is the sunlight less because
Upon his cheek are spots?
Is not the fair moon fairer for
The shadows and the blots?

And Dolly—with her perfect nose,
And Dolly—with that chin!
And eyes with sorrow, gayety
And mischief, all thrown in.

And Dolly's hair, and Dolly's voice!
(More angel she than woman),
I love those freckles—they are all
That makes my Dolly human.

Menu Suggestions.

"Cut-and-dried menus!" Of these the average housewife speaks with disgust; they seem to her conventional, tiresome, stupid. They make of living a bore, and of planning a sort of clinical operation. To all these objections the modern scientific cook answers, that stereotyped, planned menus are but the rational result of increased knowledge of the art of household science, and hygienic needs of the system. Haphazard menus comprising things most easily prepared and most cheaply obtained are the rule, but it is a false idea of economy; a false idea of the best use of time.

In making a menu care must be taken to select one dish rich enough in nitrogen to supply the daily waste. This dish may consist of beef, mutton, eggs, fish, chicken or old peas, beans, or nuts. Any one of these will afford the necessary nitrogen. There should always be also a small amount of fat—either butter, olive oil or cream. (The healthful fats are those which may be eaten without cooking; the cooked fats of meat are indigestible and would not come under consideration in a hygienic menu.) We must have some form of starch; potatoes, rice, hominy and white bread. Any one of these, but not necessarily more than one as they are all starchy foods. We must also have mineral matter and acids; these are supplied by the green vegetables and fruits.

Above all, remember that a menu may be well-balanced, well selected, but to be hygienic—really healthful—it must be well cooked.

Testing Flour.

Flour should be yellowish-white in color; not of a bluish cast. Throw a little flour against a dry, smooth surface; if it sticks, it is good; otherwise it is poor quality. Again, if flour squeezed in the hand retains the shape of the fingers it is a good sign.

"MAKES BETTER RAILROADS."

Western Writer Pays Tribute to Railroad Magnate as Builder-Up of the Country.

Mr. Edward H. Harriman is on a trip to Europe. Ordinarily there would need be nothing added to this announcement beyond an exhortation to Emperor William to chain down his railroads and to other monarchs to put their crowns and other valuables in the safe at night. But Mr. Harriman is going off on a pleasure trip, and so many mean things have been said about him that it will not hurt any to change the tune a moment while he is out of the country and not able to take any advantage of the lapse from the cold attitude of severity that is usually used in mentioning the name of Harriman.

Of all the great railroad men developed in this generation, E. H. Harriman is easily the biggest and the best, says a writer in the Hutchinson (Kan.) Daily News. The head of a railroad company, under the rules of the game, must work for his stockholders, whether it is for the advantage of politicians, shippers or consumers. It is his job to do the best he can for the interests entrusted to his care. Harriman is not only a financier, but he is a builder and an operator. Lucky is the town, city or community that has a Harriman road. He insists on a good roadbed, level track, safe track and the convenience and comfort of the traveler and the shipper. The Harriman roads are noted as the best in the country. When Harriman gets hold of a one-horse or played-out track and right of way he proceeds to put it in first class condition. He does not raise the rates of fares, although he doubtless charges "a plenty," but he insists that enough of the funds go into real improvements to make a railroad. And that is where he stands ahead of a good many others and why Harrimanism is not such a bad thing as some people have been led to think. He makes better railroads, and there is more need for improvement that way than there is in some others which are being discussed. So far as we can see, he believes in giving every interest along his road a fair deal.

He is a public benefactor from that standpoint. He uses his power fairly. He is a great man, and as good or better than the ordinary citizen who looks upon him as the personification of the money power, seeking whom it may devour. He is a strong man in the financial world, but that should not be against him, when the financial world is the object which most of us want to reach. He is a good American and he spends his money on American railroads, not on foreign titles, race horses, old editions or other bad habits. If he is not perfect—and we don't think he is—he is no exception to the rule and is worthy of the praise of his fellow citizens for the good he does and has done.

Laughter a Series of Barks.

Laughing is barking, say the scientists. The neck and head are thrown back while a series of short barks are emitted from the throat. However musical the barks may be, they are barks. The laugh begins with a sudden and violent contraction of the muscles of the chest and abdomen. But instead of opening to let the air pass out of the lungs, the vocal cords approach each other and hold it back. But they are not strong enough to exercise such opposition for more than an instant, and the air, which is under pressure, promptly escapes. As it does so it makes the vocal cords vibrate producing the bark.

This obstruction and liberation of the air expelled from the lungs repeats itself again and again at intervals of a quarter of a second. There are thus in a hearty laugh four barks a second, and if continued, they go on at that rate as long as the air reserve in the lungs holds out. The empty lungs must then fill themselves, and this interval is marked by a quick gasp for breath, after which the barks are renewed. The barks occur in series with gasps for breath at intervals.

When laughter is violent, the entire body participates. The upper part of the trunk bends and straightens itself alternately or sways to right and left. The feet stamp on the floor, while the hands are pressed upon the loins to moderate the painful spasm.

Interviewing the Professor.

"So you don't think Mars would reply, even if we did send signals?"

"I am almost convinced that there would be no response," answered Prof. Thinktum, adjusting his glasses.

"Then you don't believe that Mars is inhabited?"

"On the contrary, I think it extremely probable that life similar to our own exists on the sister planet."

"But you don't give those people credit for intelligense equal to ours?"

"Yes. I am inclined to credit them with even greater intelligence than we display. There are many indications that they have a civilization older than ours, in which case they should have too much sense to fool away their time on any such impractical proposition."

The Way He Did It.

Jenkins—Well, sir, I gave it to that man straight, I can tell you. He is twice as big as I am, too, but I told him exactly what I thought of his rascally conduct right to his face, and I called him all the names in the dictionary, and a lot of others as well.

Studds—And didn't he try to hit you, Jenkins?

Jenkins—No, sir, he didn't. And when he tried to answer back, I just hung up the telephone receiver and walked away.

Enlarging Your Business

If you are in business and you want to make more money you will read every word we have to say. Are you spending your money for advertising in haphazard fashion as if intended for charity, or do you advertise for direct results?

Did you ever stop to think how your advertising can be made a source of profit to you, and how its value can be measured in dollars and cents. If you have not, you are throwing money away.

Advertising is a modern business necessity, but must be conducted on business principles. If you are not satisfied with your advertising you should set aside a certain amount of money to be spent annually, and then carefully note the effect it has in increasing your volume of business; whether a 10, 20 or 30 per cent increase. If you watch this gain from year to you will become intensely interested in your advertising, and how you can make it enlarge your business.

If you try this method we believe you will not want to let a single issue of this paper go to press without something from your store.

We will be pleased to have you call on us, and we will take pleasure in explaining our annual contract for so many inches, and how it can be used in whatever amount that seems necessary to you.

If you can sell goods over the counter we can also show you why this paper will best serve your interests when you want to reach the people of this community.

JOB PRINTING We can do the finest class of printing, and we can do that class just a little cheaper than the other fellow. Wedding invitations, letter heads, bill heads, sale bills, statements, dodgers, cards, etc., all receive the same careful treatment—just a little better than seems necessary. Prompt delivery always.

Looks for Business Boom.

Senator Boies Penrose, after months of strenuous day and night hard work in adjusting the tariff to meet the demands of not only Pennsylvania industries but the entire country, passed a few hours in Philadelphia last Monday, arranging to take a brief visit to to western points. Interviewed the Senator said:

"I look for a tremendous business boom by next fall," said the Senator. "There is hardly an item in the tariff in which Pennsylvania is not interested. The great iron and steel interests, the silk mills, the cotton goods manufacturers, the leather trade and the hosiery trade have all benefitted by the revision of the tariff. You are already hearing reports of returning prosperity and before the November election I believe Pennsylvania will experience the greatest wave of prosperity in her history."

During the days of the Wilson Bill fight it was the staying qualities of Matthew Stanley Quay that saved the industries of Pennsylvania and the present battle was made and won by Boies Penrose, the hardest hitter in the United States Senate. The seed was planted by Senator Quay, took root and blossomed under the heroic battle of brain ond endurance of Senator Penrose. The country realizes the fact.

Cured Hay Fever and Summer Cold.

A. S. Nusbaum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered for three months, with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which assumed only to aggravate it. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar. It quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success." Sold by all druggists.

If you are all run down Foley's Kidney Remedy will help you. It strengthens the kidneys so they will stimulate the impurities from the blood that depress the nerves, and cause exhaustion, backache, rheumatism, and urinary irregularities, which sap the vitality. Do not delay. Take Foley's Kidney Remedy at once. Sold by all druggists.

Women Suffer Agonies from Diseased Kidneys

And Most Women Do This Not Knowing the Real Cause of their Condition

These poor, suffering women have been led to believe that their misery of mind and body is entirely due to "ills of their sex." Usually the kidneys and bladder are responsible—or largely so. And in such cases, the kidneys and bladder are the organs, that need and must have attention.

Those torturing, enervating sick headaches, dragging pains in back, groin and limbs, bloating and swelling of the extremities, extreme nervousness or hysteria, listlessness and constant tired, worn-out feeling—are almost certain symptoms of disordered and diseased kidneys, bladder and liver.

DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills have, in thousands of cases, been demonstrated as remarkably beneficial in all such conditions of female organism—affording the most prompt relief and permanent benefit.

As an illustration of what these Pills will do, Mrs. P. M. Bray of Columbus, Ga., writes that she was very ill with kidney trouble, and that she is now well—and that these Pills are what cured her.

They are very pleasant to take, and can in no case, produce any deleterious effects upon the system—as syrupy, alcoholic, liquid preparations are apt to do.

E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago, Ill., want every man and woman who have the least suspicion that they are afflicted with kidney and bladder diseases to at once write them, and a trial box of these Pills will be sent free by return mail postpaid. Do it to-day.

Try It on The Hills

Test this car at half speed on a hill or sand road where power and every ounce of it is needed. Notice how steadily and powerfully it pulls when running slowly under load.

The capacity of the Rambler engine for doing this extra work is most noticeable at low engine speeds. This is because of the offset crank shaft.

Rambler
The Car with the Offset Crank Shaft

All that power which in other engines is lost through friction on the bearings and cylinder walls, is added to the driving force by the Rambler offset crank shaft. It reduces friction, eliminates hammer on bearings, gives more power. The straight-line-drive delivers the power direct and with least frictional loss to the rear axle.

Let us demonstrate these features and the silence and comfort of this car.

Let us call at your home, and take you to your place of business some morning in a Rambler.

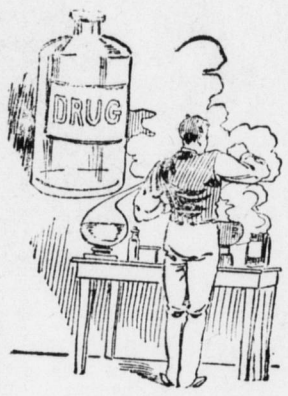
Disinfect



Some disinfectants and germicides might be classed as drugs but, you do not want to be drugged just now with a bug killer. However, now is the time to think of getting after the rose bugs and currant worms.

We have a full line of the "remedies" for that class of pests. Also a non-poisonous bed bug exterminator in small cans.

The Mason Reunion.

The Mason family reunion committee, Elmer E. Whiting, president; Washington Mason, vice-president; C. J. Miller, Secretary and M. J. B. Brooks, treasurer, has issued a call to the thousand or more descendants of Joseph Mason, pioneer settler of Cameron county, to celebrate the 100th anniversary, in Mason's Grove, near Sterling Run, Aug. 18th, 1909.

Joseph Mason was born in Philadelphia, in 1775, and was a son of Jacob Mason. He came to what is now Gibson township, Cameron county, (then Elk county) on a hunting trip in 1802, built his hunting camp near the big spring on what is now the Henry Mason estate. A few years later his father froze to death while they were on a hunting trip in Lycoming county.

In 1806, Joseph Elliott, with Joseph Mason for his foreman and bookkeeper, constructed a wagon road from Dunnstown up the Susquehanna river to Cooks Run, where they left the river and went to the Valley of the Sinnamahoning, near Round Island; thence up the Sinnamahoning to the Big Elk Lick, on the Driftwood Branch. It was the only wagon road on the Sinnamahoning for many years.

In 1809, he settled on what is now the Henry Mason estate, clearing and improving the same. This section of the county was then a dense forest, inhabited by Indians and wild animals, as well as all kinds of game; moving his family there in 1811. His wife Margaret, was a daughter of Alexander Grugan, a pioneer settler of what is now Clinton county.

The committee has labored hard to make the reunion a success. Be a pioneer of 1909, pack your basket and enjoy a day in the woods. Thus do honor to your ancestors.

A program has been arranged and eminent speakers will be present. The Driftwood band will furnish the music.

Arrangements have been made with Pennsylvania railroad, and trains Nos. 12 and 3 a. m., and 68 and 61 p. m. will will stop at the grove.

The executive committeemen are V A. Brooks, L. C. Summerson, A. H. Shaffer, Hon. G. W. Huntley and Geo. Barker, Sr. CJM.

THE LOVES of the LADY ARABELLA

By MOLLY ELLIOT SEAWELL

(Copyright, 1906, Bobbs-Merrill Co.)

SYNOPSIS.

At 14 years of age Admiral Sir Peter Hawkshaw's nephew, Richard Glyn, fell deeply in love at first sight with Lady Arabella Stormont, who spurned his attentions. The lad, an orphan, was given a berth as midshipman on the Ajax by his uncle. Giles Vernon, nephew of Sir Thomas Vernon, became the boy's pal. They attended a theater where Hawkshaw's nephew saw Lady Arabella. Vernon met Philip Overton, next in line for Sir Thomas Vernon's estate. They started a duel which was interrupted. Vernon, Overton and Hawkshaw's nephew found themselves attracted by pretty Lady Arabella. The Ajax in battle defeated French warships in the Mediterranean. Richard Glyn got £2,000 prize money. He was called home by Lady Hawkshaw as he was about to "blow in" his earnings with Vernon. At a Hawkshaw party Glyn discovered that Lady Arabella was a poor but persistent gambler. He talked much with her cousin Daphne. Lady Arabella again showed love for gaming. Later she held Glyn and Overton prisoners, thus delaying the duel. In the Overton-Vernon duel, neither was hurt. Lady Arabella humiliated Richard by her pranks. Richard and Giles shipped on a frigate. Giles was captured by the French. Sir Peter arranged for his exchange. Daphne showed a liking for Glyn, who was then 21 years of age. Giles was released. Giles and Richard planned elopements. Sir Peter objected to the plan to wed Daphne. By clever ruses Giles and Richard eloped with Lady Arabella and Daphne, respectively. The latter pair were married. Daphne was pleased; Arabella raved in anger. When the party returned, Arabella asked Sir Peter to aid in prosecuting Giles in court on the charge of committing a capital crime. All attended the trial.

The evidence being all in, and the arguments made, a recess was taken. We were not the only ones who paid our respects immediately to Giles Vernon. Many persons went forward and shook his hand, while I think Sir Thomas did not receive a cordial greeting from a single man or woman in the hall, although he was known to every one present.

We got a hurried dinner at the tavern, and returned at once to the hall. It was about half-past four in the winter afternoon, and the day being dark and lowering, candles were required. The lord justice's instructions to the jury were then read, and my heart sank, as in a dreadful monotone, he expounded the law to them. Alas! As long as the statute against the abduction of an heiress remained, Giles Vernon was guilty of a capital crime; and not one word uttered by any one of us who testified in his behalf did aught but prove the more strongly that he had carried Lady Arabella off against her will.

The jury retired, and, the day having been fatiguing, the lords justices determined to wait in their retiring room for an hour, where they could be called, if the jury promptly reached a verdict. This troubled me—this expectation of a quick decision.

The judges having retired and suspended the sitting of the court, we at once went over and sat with Giles, who maintained perfectly his manly composure. He laughed with Sir Peter over some of the events of the fight between the Ajax and her two enemies, complimented Lady Hawkshaw upon her triumph over the laws of the land relating to evidence, and said many kind things to Daphne.

While we were in the midst of a cheerful conversation, and not observant of what was going on in the other part of the hall, we suddenly heard the crier proclaiming the entrance of their lordships, and at the same moment Sir Thomas Vernon entered by another door. Hanging on his arm was Lady Arabella Stormont. And then the jury filed in with solemn faces, and what followed all seemed to me like some horrid dream.

Although several persons were moving about, there seemed to me a dreadful silence; and although the candles burned, and a great hobgoblin of a moon peered in at the windows, there seemed an awful darkness. And after a time, in which I was oppressed by this ghostly silence and darkness, I saw the senior lord justice put on a black cap and sentence Giles Vernon to be hanged by the neck until he was dead, that day fortnight.

My eyes roved aimlessly around, and fell at that moment on Lady Arabella Stormont. A faint smile flickered on her lovely mouth.

CHAPTER X.

In that hour of horror I became weaker and more helpless than the weakest and most helpless woman. Sir Peter and Lady Hawkshaw were too stunned to think. I remember, now, the look of despair on Sir Peter's countenance, where I had never before seen anything but sturdy courage—and it was an added terror. And the one who retained her senses, who suggested a forlorn hope, was Daphne—the youngest, the least experienced of us all.

"To London!" she said. "To the king, for pardon. I myself will go upon my knees to him. He shall—he shall pardon Giles!"

We were all huddled together, then, in our parlor at the inn, having just returned from the assize hall.

"Richard and I will go," said Sir Peter.

"And Daphne and I will stay and comfort Giles," spoke Lady Hawkshaw.

A week to London, and a week to return, was easy traveling—but how long would it take us to reach the king? And what ministers would be in town? And what would be the earliest moment we could leave London? All these things were in our minds to torment us. Nevertheless, within half an hours we were on our way.

While we were demanding the best horses, and having them put to, an insolent groom came in the stable yard and asked for horses for Sir Thomas and Lady Arabella Stormont and Lady Arabella's companion, Mrs. Whitall, and two servants, for London. The head hostler replied roughly that they had no time to attend him then, as they were starting Sir Peter Hawkshaw and Mr. Glyn off for London, too, to beg Mr. Giles Vernon's life. The man, at this, grew saucy, and offered a handsome bonus for the horses which were then being put to for us. I caught him by the collar, and threw him out of the stable yard, where the hostlers drubbed him soundly, thank God!

One hurried kiss to Daphne, a brief farewell between Sir Peter and Lady Hawkshaw, and we were off for London. Our race into Scotland was nothing to it.

The roads were much cut up, and although we traveled day and night, we were more than four days on the way. We reached London early in the day; and, without stopping for food, or to change our linen, we went to the admiralty. There we got the information that the first lord was visiting in the country, in Kent. Within the hour, I was on my way to Kent. When I reached the place, the first lord had left, not more than two hours before, for London. I had passed him on the road, without knowing him. I returned to London. Sir Peter had seen several members of the government, meanwhile, and had been privately informed that the king was suffering mentally; and although hopes were entertained that the spell would pass away, without the necessity of informing the country or parliament, still, access to him was refused to all by his physicians, except the members of his family and immediate household, and they were charged not to mention business to him; it would be impossible to approach him.

My Senses Seemed Preternaturally Acute.

When Sir Peter told me this, I became so weak I was forced to sit down. After a few minutes of agony, a desperate resolve came to me. I rose, and said:

"I have a scheme—desperate, but not impossible. Go with me to the prince of Wales. He is at Carlton house, but goes back and forth to Windsor."

Sir Peter jumped at this poor chance, and we agreed to go immediately.

We had left York on a Friday, and had reached London on the Monday. Two days had abeen lost in the journey to Kent; and it was now late in the evening of Wednesday. We had, luckily, brought our uniforms along; and, dressing ourselves in them—Sir Peter with all his orders sewn on his coat—we called a hackney coach and drove to Carlton house.

When we got there it was about ten o'clock in the evening. The windows were brilliantly lighted up, and it was about the hour that the prince of Wales was known to be in his best humor—but the hour when he most hated to be disturbed.

We descended, and the sentries passed us through on account of our uniforms and Sir Peter's decorations on his breast. We reached the door and knocked. The porter opened the door gingerly, when Sir Peter, giving it a kick, walked in, followed by me. The man attempted to arrest our progress, but Sir Peter said to him, fiercely:

"Do you think, you damned lackey, that you can be insolent to an admiral in his majesty's service?" The man apologized humbly and ushered us into a large reception room on the first floor, saying he would call the gentleman of the chambers.

We seated ourselves. Even in that time of agony, I noted the beauty of the room—indeed, my senses seemed preternaturally acute, and every incident of that dreadful time is deeply fixed in my mind. The ceiling was of gilt, while around the walls were paintings of Flora. A gilt chandelier diffused light through the apartment, and at one side was a pair of large folding doors.

After a long wait, a gentleman, Mr. Digby, appeared. He received us politely, but said it was impossible to disturb the prince then as he was just sitting down to piquet. Sir Peter remained silent; he was used to giving orders, and the words, "it is impossible to see his royal higness," were peculiarly disagreeable to him.

I then made my plea. I told Mr. Digby that the life of a gallant officer and gentleman was in jeopardy, and that we begged to see his royal highness in the hope that the king might be approached.

"That, too, is impossible," coldly replied Mr. Digby. "The king is far from well."

Just then some one on the other side of the folding doors opened one of them the least bit in the world, and then closed it—but not before we had seen streams of light pouring from it, a long table brilliant with plate and ornaments, and a company of about 20 gentlemen sitting around it, and at one end sat a personage whom we at once recognized as the prince of Wales.

Without a word Sir Peter arose, and, darting toward the door—for he was ever an agile man—threw it open, and walked into the presence of his royal highness.

"Sir," said he, marching up to the prince, "I am Admiral Sir Peter Hawkshaw, and I have boarded you, so to speak, sir, in order to save the life of one of the gallantest officers in the service of his majesty."

I had always heard that his royal highness was a gentleman, and I saw then such an exhibition of readiness and good taste as I never saw before, and never expect to see again. Every one at the table, except the prince, seemed astounded at the sudden entrance and statling address of a short, active little man in an admiral's uniform. But the prince offered Sir Peter his hand in the coolest manner in the world, saying:

"Most happy to meet you, Sir Peter. I recollect well that you carried the Indomptable by boarding very successfully. But how did you get past the watchdogs at the door, my dear sir?"

"By carrying sail hard, your royal highness," responded Sir Peter, "and seeing this door open, faith, said I, to myself, having risked my skin these 40 years for the king and his successors, sure, I can risk it once more by walking in on my prince, and here I am, sir, ready to state my case. That bloody popinjay, Digby (Digby was right behind him), wanted me to let you alone because you were about to go to piquet, but I think no prince of England would sacrifice a man's life to a game of piquet."

"Certainly not, Sir Peter," answered his royal highness, rising, "and now I have an hour entirely at your service."

"Sir," said Sir Peter, "I ask the honor of shaking hands with you, not as a royal prince, but as an honest man and good fellow."

I think the prince was ever susceptible to honest praise, for he was no fool, and he was undoubtedly pleased when Sir Peter wrung his hand. He then led the way into another room, and the door was closed.

The rest of the party behaved very civilly to me, and I accepted thankfully an invitation to have something to eat and drink. They were merciful to me, seeing my distress of mind, and did not plague me with questions, but resumed their conversation with one another.

WAS THE OTHER'S SUCCESSOR.

Little Negro's Explanation Certainly Bore Aspect of Truth.

Irvin Cobb tells a story of a little, weary negro who went into a resort in Natchez, displayed a large roll of bills and bought a drink.

As he was paying for it another negro came in, very large and very black. He looked at the little man and said: "Niggah, whar you git all dat money?"

"Bah-tendah,' said the little negro, by way of a reply, "Ah think Ah shall tek a bottle of dat-ah stuff. 'Pears quite satisfyin' tuh me."

"Niggah," roared the big one, "whar you git dat money? I ast you. I's the town bully, I is. I follow bullyin' foh a trade. Whar you git it?"

The little negro began stuffing the money back into his pockets. "Seems to me," he mused, "I ain't got 'nuff pockets to hold all mah wealth."

The big negro jumped at the little one. "Your hear what I said?" he demanded. "I's the town bully, an' I wanter know whar you git all dat money?"

Quick as a flash, the little negro uppercut the big one, catching him on the point of the jaw and knocking him down. In a moment the big negro revived enough to look up from the floor and ask humbly: "Niggah, who is you, anyhow?"

"Why," replied the little one, blowing his knuckles, "I's th' pusson you thought you wuz when you come in."—Saturday Evening Post.

Treasure Hoarded in India.

All the world knows that gold, silver and gems are constantly disappearing in India to swell the hidden stores of the people. What no one knows is the accumulated amount. The late Dunning MacLeod estimated that there might be $1,500,000,000 in hidden gold alone. Of silver there may be even more in proportion, as the silver rupee has long been the common money current in India. Of hidden gems no one has ever been bold enough to estimate the value.

HOSTS OF GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC IN GREAT PARADE

Spectacular Review Is Climax of the Forty-third National Encampment, in Salt Lake City---Veterans Are Warmly Received and Well Cared For in Utah's Capital.

Salt Lake City, Aug. 11.—To-day was the climax of the forty-third national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, the day on which the men who nearly half a century ago fought to preserve the union once again fell into line, answered the roll-call, and marched bravely, though often with faltering steps, to the music of the fife and drum.

Never in all the years of its existence has the Grand Army had a national encampment review that surpassed the one of to-day in spectacular and pathetic features. The parade formed at the beautiful Eagle gate on South Temple street. First in line were the regulars of the Fifteenth United States infantry and the entire National Guard of Utah, acting as escorts. Next came the forty-four departments of the Grand Army of the Republic, the Naval Veterans, the Ex-Union Prisoners of War, and in carriages the surviving members of that devoted band of women, the Army Nurses.

Scattered through the line were numerous military bands and fife and drum corps.

Greeted with Cheers and Tears.

At the word of command the parade marched west to Main street and turned south down that thoroughfare, proceeding seven blocks between solid walls of cheering men, women and children. As the grizzled veterans passed the enthusiasm was tremendous and many a spectator wept unashamed as he realized that this was undoubtedly the last grand review for scores of the feeble heroes who trudged along with eyes on the flag for which they had given some of the best years of their lives.

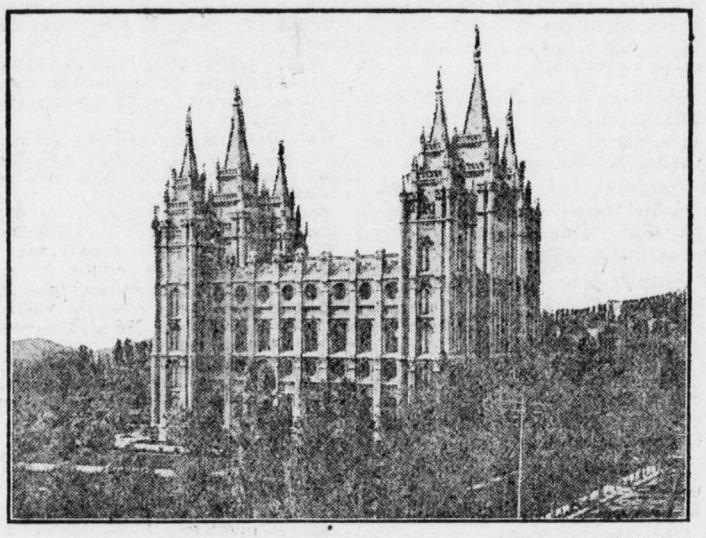
When Seventh South street was reached the paraders themselves broke out in mighty cheering, for there they turned in front of the most beautiful feature of the day, the "Living Flag." On an immense stand were 3,600 children dressed in the national colors and so arranged that they made a perfect representation of a waving American flag.

The little ones had been drilled for many weeks, and while the old soldiers passed they sang patriotic airs.

At the Reviewing Stand.

Countermarching, the parade now moved north on Main street back to South Temple street. Here, just to the left of the Brigham Young pioneer monument and close to Temple square, the reviewing stand had been erected. It was occupied by Commander-in-Chief Henry M. Nevius, Gov. William Spry of Utah, the chief executives of other states and a large number of other officials and distinguished guests. The parading bodies all passed in review, saluting those in the stand, and at once disbanded. All the bands as they arrived here were massed close to the stand and as the culmination of the parade, 4,000 school children marched by, the united bands playing and the children singing "Onward, Christian Soldiers."

The great review was excellently managed in every way. All along the line of march were scattered ambulances, trained nurses and numerous other attendants to care for any of the veterans who might be overcome by fatigue and for spectators who suffered in the crush on the sidewalks. Fortunately, their services were seldom needed.



The Great Mormon Temple.

Fireworks on a Mountain.

After a good rest, the city's guests all turned out again this evening and witnessed the magnificent display of fireworks on the top of Ensign peak. This peak lies immediately north of the city and is the highest point of the Wasatch mountains, rising 1,200 feet higher than Temple square. The pyrotechnic display is a mighty feature of the encampment week.

Salt Lake City has thrown open her arms to the old soldiers, and never has the Grand Army been more enthusiastically received or more generously entertained than at this encampment. Many thousands of the veterans and their families and members of all the organizations allied to the Grand Army have participated in the exercises and entertainments, and are unanimous in their praise of the Veterans Well Cared For.

The old soldiers have been very carefully looked after by the local committees on public comfort and private acommodations, and at the 24 information bureaus at the various railway stations and convenient places about the city. During the entire time of the encampment these committees have had the services of 300 high school cadets, whose duties have been to render every possible assistance to the visitors.

The decoration of the city has been on a lavish scale. Every prominent building has been elaborately draped with bunting, handsome arches span the streets, and there is scarcely a residence in the city that does not display at least a flag.

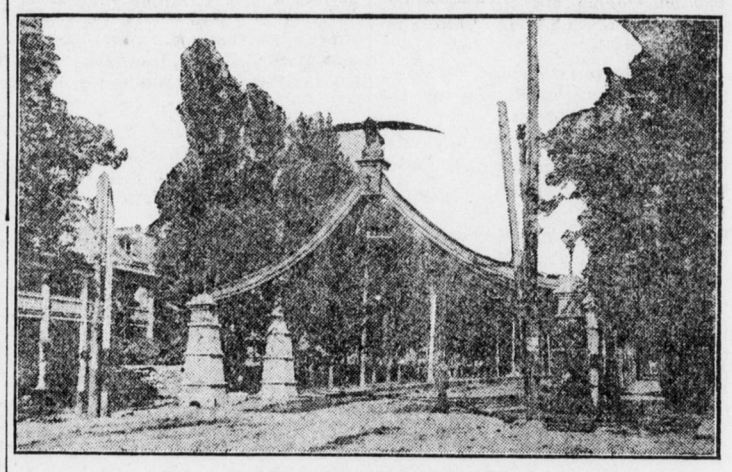
Henry M. Nevius, the commander-in-chief, arrived here Saturday with his staff and inspected the arrangements. On Sunday the city's guests began arriving by the thousand, and on Monday they came in so fast that the committee had to work like sailors to get them all housed in such a manner as to avoid congestion in any part of the city.

Big "Greetings" Meeting.

Monday evening came the first public event on the program—a great camp-fire in the assembly hall in the Temple grounds. All that night and throughout Tuesday the stream of arrivals continued, but by Tuesday evening practically all the visitors had been received and distributed. That night the greatest function of the encampment took place. This was the "Greetings" meeting in the Mormon Tabernacle. The immense building easily seats 10,000 persons, and it was filled to its capacity.

Col. Frank M. Starrett, the executive director of the encampment, called the vast assemblage to order and introduced William H. King of Salt Lake City, who acted as temporary chairman. He made a brief address and was followed by Gov. William Spry of Utah, Mayor John S. Bradford of Salt Lake City, and L. H. Smythe, commander of the department of Utah, all of whom told in eloquent words how proud they were to welcome to the state and city the Grand Army and their friends.



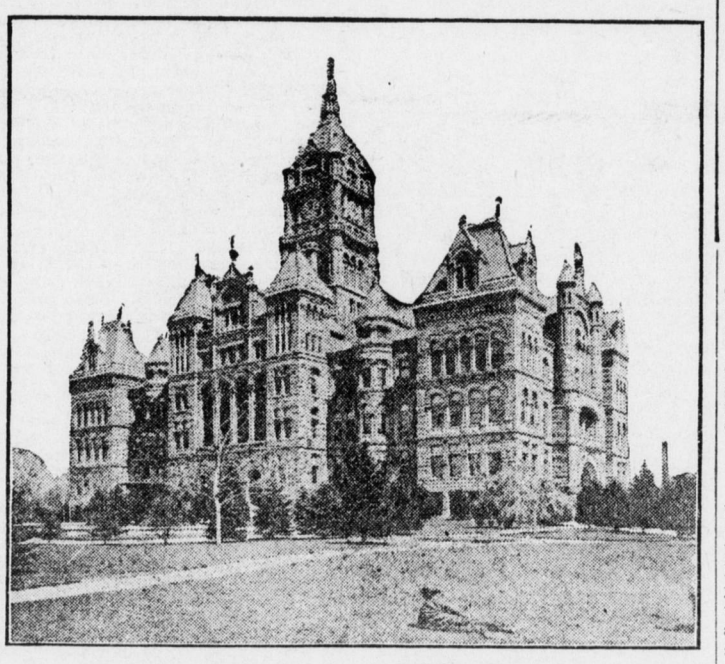
The Eagle Gate, Salt Lake City.

Mr. King then introduced Commander-in-Chief Nevius, who was received with wild cheering and the waving of hats and handkerchiefs. As soon as the tumult had subsided, Commander Nevius delivered a graceful response to the welcoming speeches and took the chair.

The Allied Organizations.

Then came the turn of the allied organizations, and greetings to the veterans were uttered by President Genevieve Hagar Longfield Lane of the Ladies of the G. A. R., President Mary E. Gilman of the Woman's Relief Corps, President Clara E. Hoover of the Daughters of Veterans, Commander-in-Chief Edgar Allen of the Sons of Veterans, and President Rebecca Smith of the Army Nurses. The speechmaking was varied by the playing of patriotic airs by a band.

The exercises were brought to a close by the presentation of a handsome testimonial to Charles G. Burton, past commander-in-chief of the Grand Army.



City and County Building.

Head On, Only.

Any remark which might possibly be construed into unfavorable criticism of his old master or any of his belongings is instantly resented by Pomp, an old southern negro. A young granddaughter from "up norf" was looking over the family portraits and commenting freely, while Pomp stood, a sable image, at her side.

"I don't think much of that horse's tail," said the girl, nodding her head toward a portrait of her spirited ancestor seated on the horse which carried him through the civil war. "It looks rather moth-eaten to me."

"Dey wasn't nobody from de norf eber saw dat hoss' tail in wah times," answered Pomp, his voice charged with indignation.—Youth's Companion.

HEARTLESS.

Horace—Ah! Miss Gwace, what should a young man do when he wants to write spring poetry?

Grace—He should see a doctor.

HIS PLEASURE A LATE ONE.

Probably Mr. Hogan Did Not Realize Just What Might Be Made of His Expression.

Casey was dead, and to do honor to him the members of the Thirteenth district Tammany organization attended the funeral in a body, says the New York Press. Slowly and sadly they filed past the coffin and took a last look at their departed comrade. At the door each man paused to shake hands with the sorrowing widow and to murmur a few words of condolence. When it came to Mr. Hogan's turn, he retained possession of her hand, while he delivered a lengthy oration concerning the good qualities of the defunct Mr. Casey.

"Sure, 'tis plain you knew my husband well, sir," said the tearful Mrs. Casey.

"Only by sight, ma'am, only by sight," Mr. Hogan hastened to explain, "I never had the pleasure of meetin' him 'til to-day."

ITCHED FOR TWELVE YEARS.

Eczema Made Hands and Feet Swell, Peel and Get Raw—Arms Affected, Too—Gave Up All Hope of Cure.

Quickly Cured by Cuticura.

"I suffered from eczema on my hands, arms and feet for about twelve years, my hands and feet would swell, sweat and itch, then would become callous and get very dry, then peel off and get raw. I tried most every kind of salve and ointment without success. I tried several doctors, but at last gave up thinking there was a cure for eczema. A friend of mine insisted on my trying the Cuticura Remedies, but I did not give them a trial until I got so bad that I had to do something. I secured a set and by the time they were used I could see a vast improvement and my hands and feet were healed up in no time. I have had no trouble since. Charles T. Bauer, Volant, Pa., Mar. 11, 1908."

Chat on Topics of Many Kinds, by a Recognized Authority

A House Party.

Invitations to this party were sent out on postcards on which there was a snap-shot of the hostess' new home. It was a delightful affair, with unique touches that a clever entertainer always contrives to give her little parties, no matter how informal.

After the dozen chosen friends had arrived and duly admired the cozy porch with its furnishings of green, the maid appeared with cold beverages, which the hostess poured; then she told them she wanted their very best ideas regarding house building; that for the two best plans there were prizes.

Paper and pencils were passed and a half hour alotted for the architects to turn in their creations. The result was delightful. Each one was allowed five minutes to explain the merits of her plan. Some remarkably clever ideas were developed and much unsuspected talent revealed. The prizes were subscriptions to well-known magazines devoted to household affairs, and the favors were tiny wooden Japanese houses filled with bonbons. For refreshments there were canteloupes filled with New York ice cream, iced tea and dainty English biscuit.

In a week or two this same hostess will entertain the same people, and they will "furnish" the houses planned at this party.

It may be readily seen how delightful this exchange of ideas is and how alert it keeps one in observing the best arrangement of all rooms. The making of a real home should be the highest aim of every woman. By that, I mean a home where the needs of each individual are looked out for with the best effect possible.

A New Bonnet Party.

A hostess sent invitations to 20 of her friends asking them to see an exhibition of imported French millinery at her home on the date specified. On the top of the invitation was a tiny figure in a perfectly enormous hat.

Every one wondered what they were to find and awaited the day with keen curiosity. They were not disappointed, for the large living room was arranged like a millinery shop; a pretty maid in cap with a long ribbon bow and a beruffled apron fluttered about speaking broken English with a charming French accent, and the hostess was in a trailing gown of unmistakable French manufacture. Around the room on hat forms were indescribable head coverings, made from waste-paper baskets, chopping bowls, colanders, bread pans, etc.

The trimming consisted of lemons, ears of corn, sunflowers, cauliflower, hollyhocks, combined with gay feather dusters, turkey quills, and even birds' nests had been pressed into service. The guests went into gales of laughter as they tried on the burlesque creations. The maid exclaimed "Si charmante, madame," in the most approved manner.

The dearest little hats made of crepe tissue paper held salted nuts when refreshments were served by maids in French costumes. The hostess said paste, glue, nails, huge pins and linen thread were used in constructing the display of headgear, and really the joke hats looked about as well as the monstrosities shown in the shops and actually worn by women who consider themselves lost to the world if not adorned with the very latest head covering regardless of the fact that it may be most unbecoming.

A Basket Shower.

Did you ever happen to think how many varieties of baskets there are? I never did until my attention was called to the fact by a novel basket shower given for a September bride-to-be.

The hostess asked each guest to bring a basket of some description. As the 24 guests were all intimate friends they consulted among themselves, so the selections made did not include duplicates. There was a stunning brown Wistaria waste basket; one of same weave to hold fruit; a market basket made by a Dutch peasant; a clothes basket; tiny covered basket to hold a thimble. This was in a round work basket, that also had a scissors shield woven to match. There was a clothes hamper, and a cunning covered basket with a handle, just large enough to hold a lunch for two.

To go with these baskets there was a tea or coffee rest woven of sweet grass to use when serving on the porch, and quaint wall holders in which a tumbler could be inserted to hold wild flowers. The honored guest was perfectly delighted with this shower, for it turned out that baskets was one of her hobbies. By the way, lately I have found so many people basket crazy, some of the younger women actually taking lessons of the Indians who come to summer resorts selling the pretty creations they have made during the long winter months on the reservations.

MADAME MERRI.

IN VOGUE

Hosiery novelties include stockings of shaded silk.

Overskirts of soft material are modish and are here to stay.

Valenciennes lace, real and imitation, is in demand once more.

Cluny lace is as great a favorite as it was a season or two ago.

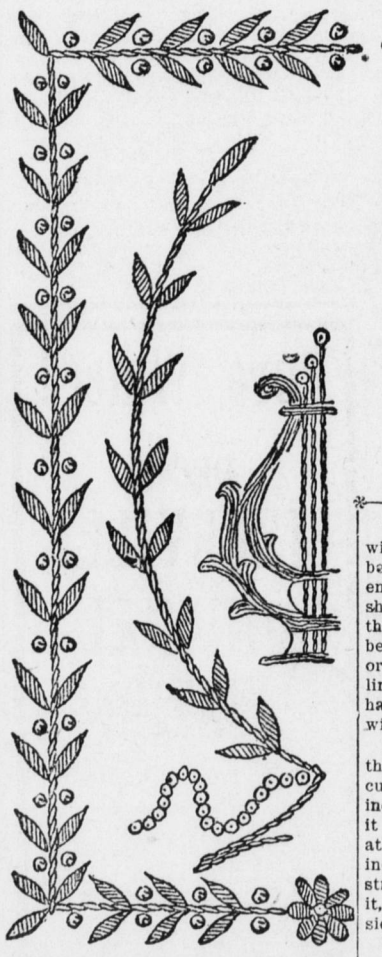
Folds and fichus over the shoulders are quite a feature of the summer evening dresses.

All of the new outing hats, as well as the finer straws, show a decided roll at the brim.

The scarf which matches the gown is becoming one of the familiar features for the light wrap.

Foulard facing for the smart revers sounds a new note in tailoring and dress combinations.

Neat Book Cover



This cover measures, when made, 9 inches deep, and about 5½ inches wide; of course, the design may be used for a larger size, by allowing more margin of plain material at the edges. Linen, silk, or satin may be used for the foundation.

The foundation must be cut 12 inches wide and 9 inches deep, an extra inch being allowed all round for turnings; embroider one side with the design shown; the leaves are in satin-stitch, the stalks in cording stitch, and the berries in French knots, small sequins or knots being used for the waved line at lower edge of chaplet; the harp is in fine cording-stitch-work with gold tinsel thread.

If the work is at all drawn, iron it at the back over a thick blanket; now cut a piece of stout cardboard 9 inches deep, and 12 inches wide; score it with a knife twice down the center, at distances of three-quarters of an inch, but do not cut it through; stretch the embroidered material over it, turn in the edges and fix on the inside of card with seccotine.

For the lining, use thin silk stretched over paper; fix evenly inside with seccotine. This cover may either be fixed to the back of an old book, or it may be used for a magazine, the covers of which may be slipped under bands of elastic fixed on the lining each side of the embroidered cover.

A SURE SIGN.

When It Appears Act at Once.

Trouble with the kidney secretions is a certain sign that your kidneys are deranged and that you should use Doan's Kidney Pills. They cure all irregularities and annoyances, remove backache and side pains and restore the kidneys to health.

Charles Cole, 204 N. Buckeye St., Iola, Kans., says: "The kidney secretions were irregular, scanty and painful and contained sediment. My back was stiff and lame and my limbs swelled. I grew weak and discouraged. Doan's Kidney Pills removed these troubles entirely. I have been well for two years."

Physician's Mean Trick.

A doctor was one day stopped in the streets by one of his woman patients whose malady was purely imaginary. The doctor, who was known for his intolerance of and nonsympathy with such invalids, after listening somewhat impatiently to the woman's detailed account of all her feelings and symptoms, told her to shut her eyes and put out her tongue. She promptly did so. On opening her eyes in a few seconds the doctor was nowhere to be seen, and the woman awoke to the fact that he had left her standing by herself in a busy thoroughfare with her eyes shut and her tongue hanging out.

The Water Bite.

He was six years old and had never gazed into the mystic lens of a microscope. Several slides containing animalcula had been displayed to his astonished vision. He was too amazed to make any comment until he came to one slide that seemed more wriggly than any of the others. It was merely a drop of water.

The little fellow gazed at it a long time, with all its nimble particles of animal life, and finally exclaimed to his mother:

"Oh, mamma, now I know what it is that bites you when you drink soda water.

Crop Growing on Small Scale.

A small holder in East Lexham is making an interesting experiment in barley growing upon his land to test the possibility of raising corn on a small scale. In 1907 he sowed 78 specially selected grains of barley, which yielded 400 ears. The resulting kernels he sowed in 1908 and harvested in 14 weeks, with the result that he got a bushel of threshed barley, which he has sown this year, his object being to show what can be done in cereal cultivation from very small beginnings.—London Standard.

THE NEW WOMAN
Made Over by Quitting Coffee.

Coffee probably wrecks a greater percentage of Southerners than of Northern people for Southerners use it more freely.

The work it does is distressing enough in some instances; as an illustration, a woman of Richmond, Va., writes:

"I was a coffee drinker for years and for about six years my health was completely shattered. I suffered fearfully with headache and nervousness, also palpitation of the heart and loss of appetite.

"My sight gradually began to fail and finally I lost the sight of one eye altogether. The eye was operated upon and the sight partially restored, then I became totally blind in the other eye.

"My doctor used to urge me to give up coffee, but I was willful and continued to drink it until finally in a case of severe illness the doctor insisted that I must give up the coffee, so I began using Postum, and in a month I felt like a new creature.

"I steadily gained in health and strength. About a month ago I began using Grape-Nuts food and the effect has been wonderful. I really feel like a new woman and have gained about 25 pounds.

"I am quite an elderly lady and before using Postum and Grape-nuts I could not walk a square without exceeding fatigue, now I walk ten or twelve without feeling it. Formerly in reading I could remember but little but now my memory holds fast what I read.

Several friends who have seen the remarkable effects of Postum and Grape-Nuts on me have urged that I give the facts to the public for the sake of suffering humanity, so, although I dislike publicity, you can publish this letter if you like."
